Timeline Instructions

Print the timeline onto legal size paper. Take to a copy store to print on heavy stock and/or have laminated. This will help your timeline last for a long time. It would be even better to have it copied to different colors of paper for attractiveness.

Cut along the lines and tape, or staple, to the wall. As you study history have the children tape pictures to the timelines. Children can draw their own, copy them from books, or search for images on the Internet.

This is a Word document, so you can change this timeline to fit your needs. For example, this timeline is set in 100year increments. If you prefer 50-year increments, you could easily make that change.
